Maori Precincts

Mataki-kai-poinga Precinct

Statement of Significance

The precinct contains a number of significant sites and the area is currently designated for Defence and Justice purposes.

The precinct includes the headland starting from the area around the Shelly Bay Air Force Base and extending out along Massey Road to Point Halswell, extending out into the ocean and around Kau Bay and Mahanga Bay, back into Scorching Bay and including Point Gordon. The area is designated for defence and justice purposes and is primarily used for farming or forestry.

Newtown Development Precinct (M76 on Planning Map 6)

Statement of Significance

The precinct has significance in that the land is predominantly owned by tangata whenua who seek reflection of Maori values in new development.

The precinct has no site specific pre-colonial connection but instead is significant because it contains sections allocated under the New Zealand Company scheme for tangata whenua. A large part of the precinct is owned by the tangata whenua and the area offers long-term opportunity for a development of a modern urban form to meet tangata whenua needs and aspirations. The precinct provides for papakainga/whanaunatanga housing marae and tangihanga facilities, meeting facilities, sporting and commercial development.

Te Ranga a Hiwi Precinct

Statement of Significance

The precinct is significant for the ridge line and the sites contained within.

The precinct comprises a ridge line of significance, particularly to the Ngai Tawa who saw this as a division or defensive line through the area. They built a series of forts or pa extending from Point Jerningham near the site of Waihirere Pa, through Te Akatarawa Pa and out to Uruhau at Island Bay and Haewai or Houghton Bay. The area at present is in the Town Belt and comes under the Town Belt Management Plan.

Within the precinct there are two outstanding sites - Tangi Te Keo (or Matirangi) and Te Akatarawa Pa. These sites warrant protection from effects of activities which are incompatible with the significance of the sites.

Tapu Te Ranga - Haewai Precinct

Statement of Significance

The precinct is characterised by its landscape and in particular the three headlands and Tapu Te Ranga Island.

This precinct includes three headlands of significance to the Tangata Whenua and Tapu Te Ranga Island. The first headland is between Owhiro Bay and Island Bay and includes the escarpments of that area. The precinct extends into the ocean to include Tapu Te Ranga, the reefs extending to Te Rae Kaihau on the eastern side of Houghton Bay Haewai.

Rimurapa Precinct

Statement of Significance

The precinct includes a number of significant sites in a coastal area and evidence of settlements.

The precinct contains a number of significant sites. It is a coastal area and includes the site of Wai Komaru Pa near the stream outlet at the end of Long Gully, Karaka Grove settlements, the site of Makure Rua Pa and Taumata Patiti Pa. It also includes the Whare Rairekau kainga/settlement.

Ohariu - Te Ika a Maru Precinct

Statement of Significance

The precinct covers a large section of coastline, coastal facing cliffs and inland areas which incorporate the high density of sites of significance associated with this area.

Rangitatau - Poito and Oruati - Te Tangihanga a Kupe Precinct

Statement of Significance

The precinct contains three significant pa sites.

The precinct contains some of the few remaining significant pa sites - Rangitatau, Paito and Oruaiti. It also includes features such as Te Aroaro a Kupe (Steeple Rock), Te Tangihanga a Kupe (Barrett's Reef), and escarpment vegetation along the coast.

Pipitea Precinct (M65 on Planning Maps 15 and 18)

Statement of Significance

The precinct covers part of the original site of the Pipitea Pa. The area includes the present Pipitea Marae. Tangata whenua wish to see the significance of the marae site reflected in any new development.

Heritage Order: Erskine College

[Heritage Order (Under Section 189 of the Resource Management Act 1991)]

Heritage Protection Authority

Save Erskine College Trust, a body corporate approved as a heritage protection authority under section 188 of the Resource Management Act 1991. The Trust can be contacted at:

Margaret M Kennedy
(Secretary)
5 McKinley Crescent
Brooklyn
Wellington

Place and surrounding area to which the Order applies

The place known as Erskine College and surrounding area comprising:

All that area of land situated at 25-31 Avon Street, Island Bay, comprised in Certificates of Title 417/180, 35A/667, 36/171 and 36/125, including all those buildings and structures which are known as Erskine College including the Chapel of the Sacred Heart, the Main Block (Convent Building) including St Anthony's Wing, Coen Wing (Science and Dormitory Block), and Lisieux Wing and the surrounding area including Our Lady of Lourdes grotto, stone walls, iron fences and gates, and gardens and notable trees. The place and surrounding area are shown in Figure 1.

Effect of Order

The effects the heritage order will have on the present use of the place and surrounding area, and the extent to which the present and other uses may continue or commence without nullifying the effect of the heritage order, are:

Without consent of the Heritage Protection Authority, Save Erskine College Trust:

- a No person shall alter, modify, extend, remove, damage or demolish the buildings known as Erskine College (and located as shown on Figure 1) or any part of the buildings known as the Chapel of the Sacred Heart and the Main Block (Convent Building) including:
 - i. all exterior and interior walls;
 - ii. all timber joinery, skirtings, architraves, doors, windows, fireplaces, dadoes, caps, staircases and newel posts;
 - iii. the lift in the Main Block (Convent Building);
 - iv. all fireplace metalwork;
 - v. all interior hardware;
 - vi. the roofs of the two buildings (i.e. the Chapel of the Sacred Heart and the Main Block (Convent Building));
- b No person shall remove, damage or destroy any mature trees or shrubs or any structures or erect or place any structure or substance in, on or over any part of the land, or undertake any disturbance to the land surrounding Erskine College, including the gardens, as shown on Figure 1.

Since the school closed in 1985 the buildings have been in continuous use for a number of purposes including accommodation (Lisieux Wing), cultural performances and liturgical ceremonies (the Chapel of the Sacred Heart), rehearsal and studio space (Main Block (Convent Building)), the Gymnasium, and the grounds have been used for both active and passive recreational activities. The heritage order will have therefore a limited effect on these lawful uses of the buildings and grounds.

The range of cultural, recreational and liturgical uses able to be continued in the buildings and grounds, without significant alterations to the College, are not inconsistent with the original educational philosophy and use of the school.

While recognising the architectural significance of the Main Block (Convent Building) and the Chapel of the Sacred Heart, the buildings may need to be freed of some of the additions that have been made over the years to enable reasonable use of all the buildings and surrounding site. There is a need to take advantage of those ancillary buildings which are reasonably sited and well-constructed and which have amenity value. The heritage order is designed to enable reasonable use of the buildings and surrounds without compromising the overall intrinsic value of the place.

Any modifications or alterations are to be in accordance with any relevant Erskine College Conservation Plan.

Reasons for protection of the place

The place (Erskine College) merits protection because it has cultural, architectural, recreational, educational and spiritual significance.

Erskine College has its origins in the Order of the Society of the Sacred Heart, a teaching order for girls and young women, founded by Madeleine Sophie Barat in France in 1800. The Convent of the Sacred Heart (as the school was first named) was established in Island Bay in 1905. Construction of the Main Block was completed in 1906.

The school practised a distinct and uniquely liberal educational philosophy (given special notice when the school was integrated into the public education system in 1983). It played a leading role in the education of many New Zealand women whose cultural, economic, social and artistic contribution to the development of Aotearoa is inestimable.

The College and the Chapel are also associated with countless individual and collective events including celebrations of the highest accolades accorded any woman by the Catholic Church to the founder of the Society of the Sacred Heart – St. Madeleine Sophie Barat (beatified 1908, canonised 1925) and a later member of the society St. Philippine Duchesne (beatified 1940, canonised 1988).

Erskine College Main Block (Convent Building) and the later St Anthony's Wing (1916), and Chapel of the Sacred Heart (1929), were designed by John Swan, Wellington's most important designer of that time of secular and Catholic architecture. The design of the College is an original symmetrical adaptation of an early Tudor fortified manor house, a unique style in New Zealand. The Main Block (Convent Building) has a clearly resolved plan-form in the shape of an "H", a clarity reflected in the robust monumental forms, elements and symmetry of the elevations. The ecclesiastical purpose of the building is simply stated in the cruciforms of the corbelled chimneys, parapets, hood moulds and decorated gables which are all redolent of Neo-Tudor style. The central verandahs are an interesting local modification.

The layout and form of the Chapel of the Sacred Heart have precedence in Alsatian church forms being modelled on the Baptismal church of Mother Ann Biehler, superior of the Island Bay Convent at the time of its construction. The Chapel was designed as an integral part of the College with entrances and access from the school arranged for religious and ceremonial purposes. If the main convent building were to be removed, the architectural and religious significance of the Chapel would be lost.

The Chapel is one of the finest and most scholarly French Gothic style chapel interiors known to exist in New Zealand. It incorporates architectural detailing of the highest quality. This is evident in the ribbed vaulted ceiling (unique for its period), the elegance and lightness of the half-columns and elongated springers.

The Chapel contains art works of the highest quality made of the best possible materials. These works, notably the German stained glass windows and statuary, the marble altar and tabernacle, shrines and timber panelling form an integral and essential part of the overall architectural composition.

The Chapel is noted for the refined acoustic qualities of its interior.

The Chapel has been designed clearly as deferent to the College which, as the primary function of the complex, retains its prominence at the forefront of the site. Together they form a strong community landmark set against a backdrop of rising hills and a dropped foreground of formal gardens replete with large, mature trees.

Erskine College Chapel was classified "A" by the New Zealand Historic Places Trust on 19 March 1987 under Section 35(1)(a) of the Historic Places Act 1980, as having such historical significance and architectural quality that its preservation is regarded as essential.

On 27 April 1993, the Deputy Director of the New Zealand Historic Places Trust informed Save Erskine College Trust that the Erskine College Main Block (Convent Building) had gained a classification of "C" under Section 35(1)(c) of the Historic Places Act 1980.

These buildings now have a Heritage Rating of Category 1 & 2 respectively.

Since the school was closed in 1985 there have been attempts to maintain the Erskine College buildings and restrict superficial deterioration of them.

Historically, applications have been made to demolish parts of the buildings. For this reason and others, Save Erskine College Trust considers that a heritage order is necessary to protect Erskine College and grounds.

Reasons for protection of the surrounding area

The inclusion of the area surrounding the place (Erskine College) is necessary for the purpose of ensuring the protection and reasonable enjoyment of the place because:

- The grounds (including notable trees) have cultural, architectural, recreational, educational and spiritual significance.
- The generous gardens today are the result of the formal layout and planting of native and exotic trees and shrubs carried out by the nuns from the time the school was built in 1906. They provide the setting for the College buildings and a natural recreational resource for the local community.
- Erskine College and adjacent grounds have provided a built focus for Island Bay for 100 years and have made a significant contribution to the local townscape.

Provisions and plans relevant to the Heritage Order

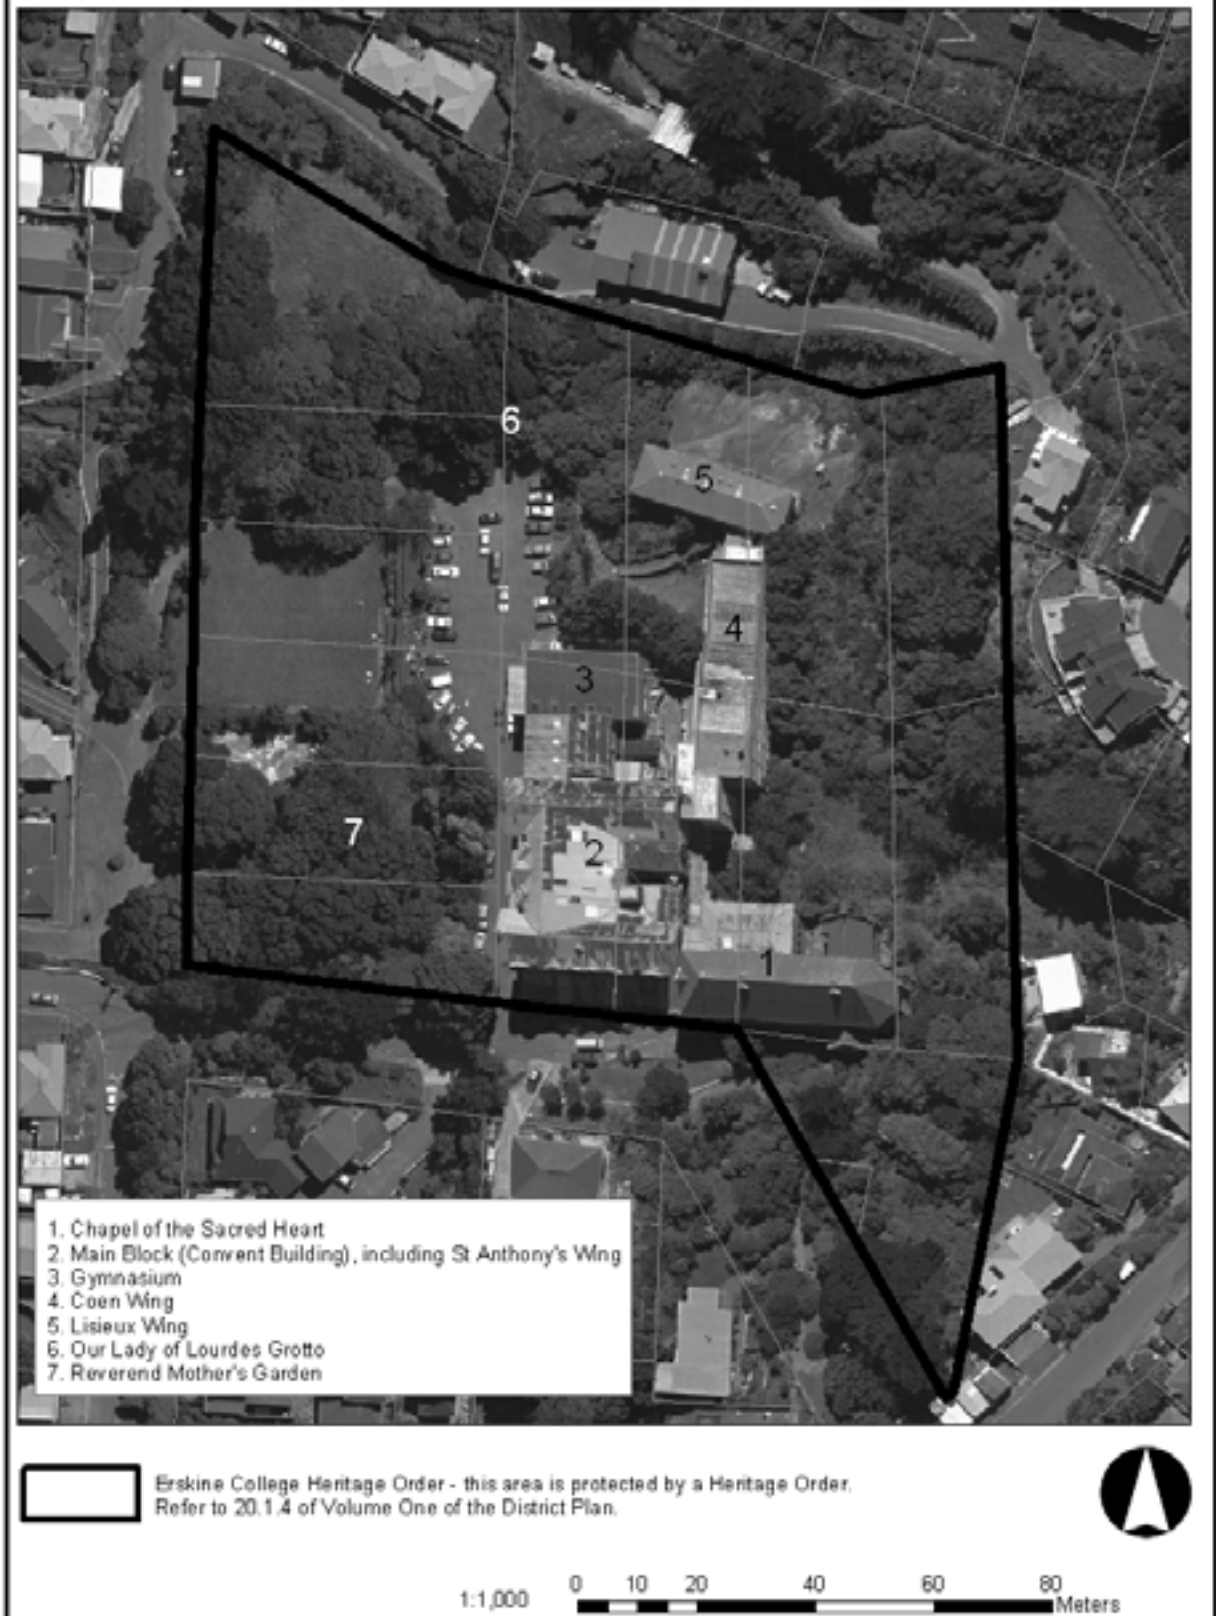

Erskine College Main Block (Convent Building) and the Chapel of the Sacred Heart are included in the heritage schedule of the Wellington City Council District Plan, and are subject to the heritage rules, including any alteration or demolition requiring the consent of the Council prior to any such work commencing. In addition, the rules state that where a heritage order applies that the heritage protection authority will be notified. Any proposed work activity within the place known as Erskine College is subject to the heritage order and the prior approval of Save Erskine College Trust.

The property is currently zoned Outer Residential in the Operative District Plan.

The heritage order has a number of plans and diagrams attached which form part of the order but are not reproduced here. A copy of the full heritage order is available from the Secretary of the Save Erskine College Trust and from the Wellington City Council.¹
